To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to recommend Jim Aaron, whose leadership and problem-solving skills were a tremendous asset to the Carpet One cooperative during his tenure as Vice President of Merchandising. As a member of the cooperative, I had the opportunity to work closely with Jim on numerous initiatives that strengthened our organization and advanced our collective goals.

Jim is a natural problem-solver who approaches challenges with both creativity and determination. His ability to think critically and develop practical solutions has had a lasting impact on the cooperative and its members. Even in the face of complex challenges, Jim remained focused on delivering results that aligned with our values and objectives.

Equally notable is Jim's skill in relationship-building. He has a unique ability to connect with people from all walks of life, fostering trust and collaboration at every level. Whether working with vendors, cooperative members, or his internal team, Jim cultivated strong partnerships that benefited everyone involved.

Jim's combination of strategic thinking, problem-solving, and relationship-building makes him a standout leader. I am confident he will bring these qualities to his next endeavor with the same dedication and success he demonstrated with Carpet One.

Sincerely,

Sabrina Porterfield Burke
